

performed In this sample we will show how one can change the text of the cell on split. The table contains two columns: the first one will be processed as usually and the second one is the on which the required split logic will be performed In this sample we will show how one can change the text of the cell on split. The table contains two columns: the first one will be processed as usually and the second one is the on which the required split logic will be performed	Custom content
--	-----------------------